Dr. M. M. Davis and family arrived in the city Monday, to remain through the school year.

Five hundred new volumes, consisting of the latest and best of historical novels and fiction, have recently been added to the college library.

Mrs. Grefox returned home Saturday from Vancouver, Wash., where she had been to place her little grandchildren in the Sisters and Brothers school.

Some pretty heavy blasting is being done on the Long Tom about Monroe. In the last few days many windows in town have been broken and a few doors burst in.

Six new students in Union county's contribution to the list of O. A. C. students this year. They accompanied Mr. S. E. Harris on his return to school last Monday.

On Sunday evening at the United Evangelical church the pastor will present the subject, "The Divine Model." All young people are especially invited to this service.

Superintendent Denman has arranged for a county institute to be held in the Barclay school district near Monroe, either Saturday, October 7th, or a week from that date.

A new resident of Corvallis, who brings three new students to the college, is Mr. J. A. Howard, a prominent Crook county stock buyer. Mr. Howard and family occupy the Dalaba residence.

"Where do all those pink bundles come from?" enquired a stranger in Corvallis one day this week. "From F. L. Miller's," answered a half dozen by-standers. All pink bundles come from Miller's.

The court has approved and filed the semi-annual account of B. L. Eddy, guardian of the four minor heirs of Sarah C. Applewhite. The receipts are $1,722, and disbursements $1,824.

There will be a wedding in Corvallis Sunday. The young lady is the daughter of a prominent farmer. The future home of the couple is located in Job's addition and is ready for occupancy.

Harry Beard has enlisted as a musician in the regular army, and is stationed at Vancouver barracks. Harry was a member of last year's graduating class of OAC and leader of the cadet band. He will play solo in the 35th regimental band, and will leave in about a month for the Philippines.

"Pap Hayseed" McAllister visited Corvallis friends and scenes this week. His appearance on our streets suggested the nucleus for a champion football team for OAC this season, but Pap explained that he had an excellent business offer elsewhere, and football was too late sport after fighting Goo Gooe, anyway.

An improvement, in the shape of two twelve-foot board walks, is being made at the public school. One of these walks will extend from the north entrance of the building to the northwest corner of the grounds, and the other to the northeast corner. These are being built for the convenience of pupils living in the north part of town.

Here is evidence that one editor at least in the party which visited Oregon in the early summer, was drunk. He is the editor of the Kimball Graphic and hails from North Dakota. Here is the evidence: "Talker: most of the towns visited on the valley trip, Eugene is laid out on a level plain, while the others had not room to expand without encroaching on the foothills." Imagine Corvallis or Albany "encroaching on the foothills."

It has gotten so now a days, that when a man speaks of his typewriter, he has to answer the question, "animate or inanimate?"

Mrs. Hare will shortly move to Albany to reside. Her residence in this city will be occupied by the family of Professor Lake.

All the ex-members of the 2nd Oregon regiment in the vicinity are requested to meet at Hodes & Hall's Saturday night. Important business.

Mr. John Barnhart is again a grandfather. The news was received last Saturday that his daughter Mrs. Newman was the mother of a brand new baby girl.

A case of supposed empoisoning has developed in Salep and as a result fifteen persons are quarantined. The case is a mild one, but the health and police committee of the city council have ordered the quarantine.

Lincoln Leader has again changed hands. Its new proprietors are Charles and Ada Soule, formerly proprietors of the Yakima Tag. The Tag has been consolidated with the Leader; just to give it a stronger pull, as it were.

Mr. John Skelton, who has been for the past year drug clerk for Allen & Woodward, left Wednesday for Birmingham, Ala., where he will take a position as an iron and steel works. During his residence here Mr. Skelton has become quite popular.

Prof. Moses Craig left on yesterday's afternoon train for St. Paul, Minn., where he will take up work as a specialist in botany; work for which he is eminently fitted. Prof. Craig has gained the friendship and respect of everyone during his residence among us, and it is with regret that they see him depart.

Some alarm was caused among members of the Farley threshing crew last week while the outfit was working in the neighborhood of Monroe. A number of the men were poisoned by eating peaches, and fears were entertained for a time that the attack might prove fatal, but at last accounts nothing serious had resulted.

Justice E. R. Bryson is having rooms fitted up in the Fisher block, over the postoffice, and will shortly occupy them. Mr. Bryson has in his office, as a law student, Mr. E. C. Woodson, recently an assistant professor in the university at Eugene. Mr. Woodson is a true-blue republican and a speaker of much force and ability.

Pop picking was completed in the Whiteaker yard this week. Mr. Whiteaker will have 30,000 pounds of fine hops as ever went out of Benton county. So heavy was the crop that the average pick for one person was five or six boxes a day. The crew of 160 pickers kept his double furnace dryer busy night and day for two weeks, and many days picking was stopped a 4 p. m.

Harry Holgate, recently of the 2nd Oregon, has been made the recipient of one of the places saved for returning volunteers. It is a position in the census office at Washington, carrying with it a salary of $1,000 to $1,200 a year with chance for promotion. This patronage is distributed by United States senators and representatives, and it was Congressman Tongue who so kindly remembered Mr. Holgate.

Mr. W. A. Maxwell, publisher of the Arlington (Oregon) Record, was in Corvallis a couple of days this week. He was accompanied by his son, who has entered the OAC. This is Mr. Maxwell's first visit to Corvallis, and he expresses himself as agreeably surprised at the size of the city and its live business appearance. The college and its buildings and equipment, also excited his admiration and commendation. Arlington is now represented by five students at the OAC.

Mr. Riley Hurlburt narrowly escaped being killed at his farm home one day last week. He had ridden to the house on a bundle wagon driven by Con Gerhardt, and when the vehicle stopped at the door, he rose and walked to the end of the wagon to get out. Just at that moment the team plunged forward. He was thrown to the ground, suffering a severe fall in the forehead, which rendered him unconscious. He remained in this condition for several hours. While his shoulder was badly sprained and he sustained numerous bruises, no bones were broken and he is now rapidly recovering.

Mr. C. A. Riddle has again begun to issue the Mite, the little paper which grew into popularity last year. It has been enlarged to a three-column folio—the columns being 18 em—and is bright and new. It will be published every Monday evening, and its space will be devoted almost entirely to matters pertaining to the college and its work. In his opening editorial, Mr. Riddle makes this explanation: "This paper is set in any way officially connected with or controlled by the Oregon Agricultural College, but will be edited with the best interests of the institution at heart, and as nearly as possible in harmony with the views of the president and faculty. We will ever strive to make the paper a credit to the college and its training."

A meeting of the Coffee Club is called for Monday, Sept. 25th.

Preaching at the Congregational church by Rev. P. S. Knight next Sabbath.

The seats at the Presbyterian church have been thoroughly repaired and hereafter will be perfectly comfortable.

Frank Prindle dealer in watches, clocks, jewelry silverware and spectacles. Fine repairing done with despatch. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Prof. Helen Crawford returned Monday to resume her duties as teacher at the OAC. For the past two months Miss Crawford has been taking a course in the Chicago school of oratory.

The ice-cream social given by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening was a decided success. The attendance was large, the ice-cream and cake and cocoa were delicious and the receipts were very satisfactory.

Dennis Stovall, the Corvallis author, went out to Southern Oregon on the overland last night in search of material for a new novel. He will visit Crater Lake and other romantic points while gone. Herald. He is also in search of a heroine.

In the pacing event for three-year-olds at the fair Monday, Jess Brown's Pathmark won in two straight heats in 2:32 1/2 and 2:28 3/4, with much ease. Pathmark has covered the mile in 2:17 in practice trials, and is looked upon as a record breaker.

Rev. Isaac Peart and wife have been attending the 47th annual conference of the Methodist church, which is being held in Salem, since Tuesday. Rev. Peart will not be again assigned to this pastorate, but his new field of labor has not yet been determined.

Theo H. Welsch Monroe's blacksmith has sold his share of the shop to his partner, Mr. Jas. F. Bailey, and he will move to Corvallis to school his children and will probably engage in the blacksmith business. Mr. Welsch has been a citizen of Monroe and Benton county for a great many years.—Bulletin.

Rube Kiger's valuable horse Hugo is dead. While being exercised on the Salem track last week, he suddenly reared and fell backward, striking his head. Concussion of the brain set in and death resulted. Benton county, as well as Mr. Kiger sustains a loss in the death of this splendid animal, which had a trotting record under 2:20.

Charles M. Hodson, player of bass in the Marquand Grand and Hotel Portland Orchestras, has accepted a position as bass player with the Shirley Dramatic Company, and left Saturday for Salem to join the company, says the Telegram. Charles is well-known in Corvallis where he was foreman of the Gazette office for a couple of years. The Shirley company is fortunate in securing his services.

While riding his bicycle from Corvallis to the Hook place above town last Tuesday morning, Al Kemp, engineer for the Tyre Smith threshing outfit, came near meeting with a severe accident. Some one had placed a couple of rails across the bicycle path in the form of a Y, and Mr. Kemp saw them just in time to avert a fatal tumble. The penalty for placing obstructions of this kind upon bicycle paths should be most severe.

Prof. McElwain, late of the University of Illinois, has accepted the position of assistant under Prof. Cordley, in the entomological department, and will have charge of that branch until Prof. Cordley returns from the East, says the Mite, which will be some time near Jan. 1st.

Prof. W. J. Gilstrap, former assistant, new law in connection with the college and has been engaged to teach a five month's school at Hoskins, in this county. His school will open about October 1st.

Much has been said of the doubtful outlook for crops in Kings Valley, but this old reliable section comes to the front with her usual bounteous yield. Mr. A. C. Miller, the obliging postmaster of that section, who is also extensively engaged in farming, states that yields of forty bushels of wheat and fifty bushels of oats to the acre were not uncommon and the grain was of excellent quality. In the low bottoms some damage resulted from unseasonable showers, but this was slight.

The following is one of numerous reports received by this paper during the past spring and summer, many of them coming from the far South and East: "Will you please send me a copy of your valuable paper as I am very much interested in reliable information from your city and county. If you can send me any other literature showing the advantages of your city and county, I would be very much obliged.—W. A. Liston, Atlantic, Iowa."

No better evidence is necessary of the wide attention the state of Oregon is now receiving, and the unparalleled opportunity now offered the state for securing much needed and desirable emigration. Boards of trade should be organized in every city and reliable information gathered and scattered broadcast. While the newspapers are doing much, their efforts should be supplemented with matter of detail along lines which they are unable to cover.

D. C. Rosebrooks, formerly director of the Marine band of this city, is sole cornetist with Bennett's band of San Francisco, which is to furnish music for the coming Portland exposition.

Mr. Mordant Goodnough, whose talent as a pianist has received more than local fame, has accepted a position with the Wiley B. Allen Co. to tour with its car and give recitals. Mr. Goodnough has been at Yaguina during the summer season and had a large class in music. This week the Wiley B. Allen Co. car visited Toledo, and Mordant, eager to hear and see the piano, walked nine miles to that city. His playing attracted the attention of Manager Allan, who immediately offered him a situation at a good salary, which was accepted. The day is not far distant when this talented little musician will be one of the leading pianists of the country.

The promoters of the Corvallis and Southern railroad are not letting the grass grow under their feet, but are pushing forward with determination and energy. The following from the Junction City Bulletin is the latest news regarding their movements: "The Corvallis and Southern Railroad Co. having about secured right of way between Junction City and Monroe, it is hoped by friends of the road that the S. P. Co's right of way between Monroe and Corvallis may be secured and the C. & S. R. Co. thereby obviating the work and expense of securing another right of way along the side of theirs. It is understood that Mr. Wallace, Mgr., will be in Portland this week in the interest of the C. & S. R. Co."

The public school opened last Monday morning with bright prospects for an increased attendance and prosperous year of school work. The new teachers are rapidly taking hold of their duties, and making friends with the pupils. Many of the old pupils have not yet returned from summer outings, but the number of new students is unusually large. Already some forty or fifty have entered the classes above the first grade, and the number usually registered the first week is being approached rapidly. Wednesday 27th had been enrolled. Principal Pratt anticipates a larger attendance than that of last year, but the scarcity of class room will be relieved in a measure by the overflow which will find accommodations in the old Evangelical church.

Services at the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath as follows, Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Class organization for all grades of scholars, and good teachers provided for all. Bible classes for the young people and also for adults. Public worship at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. preaching by Dr. Thompson. Junior C. E. at 3 p. m. Senior C. E. at 6:30 p. m.
